SPEAKERS

Jessica S. Donington, MD, MSCR

Professor of Surgery

Chief, Section of Thoracic Surgery

UChicago Medicine

Jessica S. Donington, MD, MSCR, is an expert thoracic surgeon who treats the full spectrum of lung, esophageal and mediastinal conditions. Her focus is on the comprehensive and multidisciplinary care of benign and malignant chest diseases.

Dr. Donington specializes in lung cancer and treats people at all stages, providing a personalized approach to diagnosis and treatment using the latest technology and innovations, including minimally invasive and robotic surgery.

In addition to her clinical practice, Dr. Donington is an avid researcher and respected leader in her field. Her research focus is in the discovery of novel biomarkers for early detection and treatment of lung cancer and clinical trials that incorporate surgery into multimodality care plans for locally advanced and metastatic lung cancer. Dr. Donington is a past president of Women in Thoracic Surgery and the New York Society for Thoracic Surgery and serves on the editorial boards for the Annals of Thoracic Surgery and the Journal of Thoracic Oncology.

Marina Chiara Garassino, MD

Professor of Medicine

UChicago Medicine

Marina Chiara Garassino, MD, is an internationally recognized expert in the treatment of thoracic malignancies. Dr. Garassino specializes in thoracic tumors including lung cancer, non-small cell lung cancer and small cell lung cancer, as well as thymic malignancies, very rare mediastinal tumors (tumors that develop between the chest and breastbone). Dr. Garassino understands that thoracic cancers can grow quickly, so she works with her patients to accurately diagnose their condition and find the right treatment(s) for each person.

As an avid physician-scientist, Dr. Garassino is committed to researching treatments and techniques that improve quality of care and outcomes for her cancer patients. She has led clinical and translational research focused on investigating targeted agents, immunotherapies to treat thoracic malignancies. Dr. Garassino has published over 220 papers in respected, peer-viewed publications, including New England Journal of Medicine, Lancet Oncology, Journal of Clinical Oncology, JAMA Oncology, Annals of Oncology, Journal of Thoracic Oncology and Cancer Immunology, Immunotherapy.

SPEAKERS

Kristi M. Griffith, MSN, RN, CHPN, ONN-CG

Survivorship Navigator
LUNGevity Foundation

A nurse navigator with over 30 years of oncology and palliative care experience, Kristi is the first point of contact for patients and families who reach out to LUNGevity Foundation for support.

Kristi delivers patient support and comprehensive disease information to lung cancer patients and their families/caregivers along with additional resources to increase lung cancer knowledge and help eliminate barriers to timely and optimal care.

Previously, Kristi served as Director, Palliative Care Administration at Baylor Medical Center before working as an Oncology Nurse Navigator at the Charles A. Sammons Cancer Center. Having served on various national boards and committees, including the Academy of Oncology Nurse and Patient Navigators (AONN+) and the National Board for Certification of Hospice Palliative Nurses, she currently serves on the national AONN+ Certification Exam Development Committee for Oncology Navigators.

Kristi received her Bachelor of Science in Nursing from The University of Texas at Arlington and later received her Master of Science in Nursing from The George Washington University.

Angela James, MBA, LMSW, MEd, OSW-C, OPN-CG

Care Navigator
LUNGevity Foundation

With over a decade of oncology experience, Angela is the first point of contact for those seeking support through LUNGevity while offering comprehensive disease information to patients with lung cancer and their families and caregivers.

Before joining LUNGevity, Angela served as a Cancer Navigator, where she provided resources and support to cancer patients and their caregivers. James also served as a Care Coordinator for Wellthy, where she provided resources to address the various lifestyle and financial challenges often caused by illness.

Angela also has experience as a hospital case manager, where she partnered with medical staff to ensure patients were given the tools necessary to maintain their well-being on discharge from the hospital.

Angela received a Bachelor of Science in psychology from the University of Southern Mississippi before earning a Master of Education from William Carey College. She also earned an MBA from Strayer University and a Master of Social Work from the University of Southern California.
